

Title: A Biblical Faith Embedded Principles of Macroeconomics

Jonathan C. Deming Ph.D.

Abstract:

This paper discusses one person's journey in toward an active integration of a Biblical Christian faith with the Principles of Macroeconomics. The primary objective of this integration is not "what does the Bible teach us about economics?" but "how does a biblical faith inform and add to our understanding of ourselves in an economic community?" The paper describes how this is might be accomplished using a combination of readings, in-class discussions, written work and on-line discussion threads, and discusses some of the positive and negatives of each.