Journal of Biblical Integration in Business

The Journal for Biblical Integration in Business (JBIB) is soliciting theoretical and empirical manuscripts that integrate Biblical principles and truth into the business disciplines. It also publishes articles that discuss integration theory in business pedagogy. The journal is a refereed blind review forum for discussing faith-learning links in business.

In addition to regular manuscripts, the JBIB is soliciting manuscripts for the following sections:

Insights (new section)

Insight:

1. A clear or deep perception of a situation
2. Grasping the inner nature of things intuitively

Insights are short articles with one thoughtful observation or discussion point. An Insight might not be large enough for a regular article but when it is appropriately placed in the discipline-specific literature, it provokes discussion. The goal for Insights is to provide short, interesting integration ideas for professors to think about and/or use in class. When submitting, specify that your manuscript is for the Insight section.

Living Integration (new section)

The word of God is living and active. Sharper than any doubled-edged sword, it penetrates even to dividing soul and spirit, joints and marrow; it judges the thoughts and attitudes of the heart (Hebrews 4:12).

Biblical integration in business is more than an intellectual exercise. When Scripture is applied, God works and things happen. The purpose of this section is to show how God deals in the lives of real people who apply Scripture to business. When submitting, specify that your manuscript is for the Living Integration section.

Examples of submissions could include but are not limited to:

- Interviews with business people who “live their faith.”
- Articles about professors who communicate integration ideas exceptionally well or in unusual circumstances.
- Stories of historic Christian groups who integrated business with their faith.

Media Reviews

Have you read a good book lately? Have you found a website that is great...or overrated? Tell us about it and what you liked and didn't like. Reviews should be of media that CBFA members would find interesting, but the media need not necessarily be directly useful for classes.

Manuscript submissions should be sent electronically. If you are submitting to a special section, please specify the focus area of your manuscript. Email a file of your submission in Microsoft Word to ysmith@ulv.edu
